

YSM Alumni Fund Horstmann Scholarships

“The experiences and ambitions that make up the Yale community are inspiring and motivate me to do and be my best. Financial aid is the only way I can receive an education at Yale. I am very grateful for this scholarship.”

WALEED KHAN, MED '22

“Thank you for your generous support on my path to becoming a physician. Words will never describe how grateful I am for this scholarship and the opportunities that come along with it.”

SHIN MEI CHAN, MED '23

Become a Horstmann Scholar Donor with a gift of $10,000 or more

Gifts to the Yale School of Medicine Alumni Fund help to sustain vital aspects of the school – from teaching to student life to research – but no area is more important than financial aid. To reduce the burden of debt on our students, our goal is to replace all need-based loans in our financial aid packages with scholarship funds. Growing these resources will allow students to launch their careers without incurring overwhelming debt during their time at YSM. Robust financial aid will encourage the brightest and most passionate students from diverse socioeconomic backgrounds to choose Yale as the starting point for their careers in medicine.

In recognition of leadership gifts of $10,000 or more, YSM offers donors the unique opportunity to name a one-year scholarship in honor of whomever they wish – themselves, a loved one, or a classmate – and will receive a profile of the student recipient.

To learn more please visit www.medicine.yale.edu/alumni/giving/leadershipgiving.

The Horstmann Scholar Program is named for Dorothy M. Horstmann (1911-2001).

Dr. Horstmann was a principal researcher of the pathogenesis and control of viral infections, particularly polio and rubella. Her findings helped develop the acceptance of the oral polio vaccine.

In 1961, Dr. Horstmann became the first female professor of medicine at Yale, and in 1969 she was the first woman in the university to hold an endowed chair. She became an elected member of the National Academy of Sciences in 1975.

Contact

Bridget Austin

Yale School of Medicine

Associate Director, Annual and Special Giving

Bridget.austin@yale.edu

203.436.8556

Invest in Students

“Recruiting the best and the brightest requires that we make medical school accessible to all students regardless of means. Reducing and ultimately eliminating the debt burden of our students will broaden their choices as they become leaders in medicine.”

—Nancy J. Brown, M.D.
Jean and David W. Wallace Dean of Medicine
C.N.H. Long Professor of Internal Medicine

The FORMULA for FINANCIAL AID

at Yale SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

TOTAL COST	RESOURCES	NEED	UNIT LOAN	SCHOLARSHIPS	OTHER LOANS
 Tuition Room/Board Books Healthcare Other fees & Expenses	 Funds available from student (including spouse/parents*) at Yale School of Medicine	 Difference between total cost & available resources	 Required amount for borrowing is $15k/year	 Gift aid that does not need to be repaid	 (if necessary to cover parent/student contributions)