PARTNERS FOR SUCCESS
Linking Communities, Families and Schools

National Conference

Sponsored by the School of the 21st Century

Yale University
New Haven, Connecticut
July 14 - 16, 2003
What is the School of the 21st Century?

The School of the 21st Century (21C) is a community school model that includes school-based and school-linked child care for children ages three and four, child care for school-age children and family support services designed to promote the optimal growth and development of children beginning at birth. The 21C model, also known as Family Resource Centers (FRC’s) in some communities, transforms the traditional school into a year-round multi-service center providing high-quality, accessible services from early morning to early evening. In many communities, 21C serves as an umbrella for an expanded array of family support services including adult education, youth development and social services.

The 21C/FRC model has proven successful in urban, rural and suburban areas, as well as in affluent, middle class and poor communities. More than 1300 schools have implemented 21C.

Join the 21C Network!
Interested in learning about the latest research, new funding opportunities, evaluation findings and more to support your school-based, school-linked child care and family support programs? Then join the 21C Network. Network members at this level can take advantage of regular consultation with 21C Network staff, including one site visit. In addition, Associate members receive issue briefs and network materials, a sampler packet of 21C publications, and a deeper discount on 21C training activities and publications. Annual cost: $1,000

For more information on joining the 21C Network, see someone at the Registration Desk. The Conference Registration Desk is open Monday through Wednesday, 8:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Associate Director, Yale Bush Center
Director, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT

Keynote Address

A NEW ERA IN CHILDREN’S SERVICES

Edward F. Zigler

Edward F. Zigler is the Sterling Professor of Psychology at Yale University, head of the psychology section of the Child Study Center, and Director of the Yale University Bush Center in Child Development and Social Policy. He is the author, co-author, and editor of numerous scholarly publications and has conducted extensive investigations on topics related to child development. Dr. Zigler regularly testifies as an expert witness before congressional committees and has served as a consultant to a number of cabinet-rank officers. He was one of the planners of Project Head Start and served as the first director of the U.S. Office of Child Development (now the Administration for Children, Youth and Families) and Chief of the Children’s Bureau from 1970-1972. He is the founder of the School of the 21st Century initiative and the recipient of numerous awards, including the Heinz Award for Public Policy.

CONCURRENT WORKSHOPS
10:15 a.m. -- 11:45 a.m.

THE ABCS OF 21C

This session will provide newcomers with a detailed overview of the 21C model, covering each of the key components and the rationale and research supporting them.

Beth Lapin, Senior Associate, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT
Paul Vivian, Program Consultant, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT

BUILDING BRIDGES TO HEALTHY KIDS AND BETTER STUDENTS

For children to come to school healthy and ready to learn, they must have access to health services and insurance. Recently, leadership and economic changes have presented new challenges to schools’ efforts to enroll children in health insurance programs. The Council of Chief State School Officers will share tips and resources to develop and support school-based outreach and enrollment activities.

Patricia Brennan-Gac, Senior Project Associate, Council of Chief State School Officers, Washington, DC
Judith Solomon, Executive Director, Council of Chief State School Officers, Washington, DC

10:15 a.m. -- 11:45 a.m.

BECOMING AN EFFECTIVE ADVOCATE: LESSONS FROM THE FIELD

Learn how to use all your knowledge and enthusiasm to craft a message about the importance of early education and school age programs. Through interactive discussions, hands-on activities and examples from the Early Education for All campaign in Massachusetts, this workshop will help you become a more effective advocate for children and families in your community.

Amy O'Leary, Early Childhood Field Director, The Early Education for All Campaign, Strategies for Children, Boston, MA

BEYOND LANGUAGE INSTRUCTION: RESPONDING TO THE NEEDS OF IMMIGRANT FAMILIES

Diversity is an ever-present challenge and opportunity in schools, and it is likely to increase in the coming years with changes in national demographics. This workshop will discuss resources and policies that can help educators address the needs of immigrant children and work closely with their parents.

Nicole Fedoravicius, Evaluation Manager, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT
Erica Lopez, Research Assistant, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT
Dan Vogeler, Principal, Roundy Elementary, Columbus Junction, IA

TELEVISION AS A RESOURCE: CPTV’S READY TO LEARN WORKSHOP

Find out how to recognize and use educational concepts embedded in high quality children’s television programming. Through hands-on participation and discussion, this workshop shows child care professionals how to link active television viewing, story time, and educational, age-appropriate activities to help preschoolers learn.

Anne Taggart, Ready To Learn Coordinator, Connecticut Public Television, Hartford, CT

YOUNG PEOPLE’S NEEDS DON’T TAKE A VACATION: CREATING HIGH QUALITY SUMMER PROGRAMS

Summer learning loss is a significant cause of widening achievement gaps between low-income, minority students and their more affluent peers. Many current summer interventions are overly punitive and almost exclusively remedial in focus. Learn more about how schools, youth development organizations, and universities can collaborate to create productive and enjoyable summer experiences for school-age youth.

Ron Fairchild, Executive Director, Center for Summer Learning, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, MD

PARENTS AS TEACHERS: THE MODEL AND INNOVATIONS

Parents As Teachers (PAT) is a highly effective, nationally recognized program of parent education and home visitation for parents of prenatal to kindergarten age children. This workshop will provide an overview of the PAT program, innovations in Connecticut, as well as PAT’s documented benefits to children, their families, and the community.

Robin Drago, Technical Assistant to CT Parents Plus/ConnPAT, The Family Resource Center, West Hartford, CT
Pamela Langer, Director of Early Childhood Initiatives for CT Parents Plus, United Way of CT, Rocky Hill, CT
Guadalupe Martinez, Technical Assistant to CT Parents Plus/ConnPAT, Hamden Family Resource Center, Hamden, CT
Monday, July 14

LUNCHEON ADDRESS
12:00 p.m. -- 1:30 p.m.

FEDERAL INITIATIVES IN EARLY CHILDHOOD: RESEARCH AND POLICY

Grover J. (Russ) Whitehurst

Grover J. (Russ) Whitehurst is the first Director of the newly created Institute of Education Sciences which conducts, supports and disseminates research on education practices that improve academic achievement and evaluations of federal and other education programs. In his previous role as Assistant Secretary for the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI), Whitehurst established the What Works Clearinghouse, initiated new programs of research such as those in reading comprehension and preschool curriculum, and spearheaded an unprecedented increase in the presidential budget request for education research. Prior to beginning federal service, Whitehurst was Chairman of the Department of Psychology at the State University of New York at Stony Brook. During his career as a researcher, Whitehurst, an expert in early literacy, developed the dialogic reading technique, a widely used method of shared picture book reading that enhances children's language development. His work is also reflected in the Get Ready to Read! Initiative sponsored by the National Center for Children with Learning Disabilities. Whitehurst received his undergraduate degree at East Carolina University, and obtained a Ph.D. in experimental child psychology from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. He is married with two children.

SEMINARS
1:45 p.m. -- 2:45 p.m.

YEARS OF LEAN AND PLENTY: LIVING WITH AND EVEN GROWING YOUR PROGRAM DURING TIMES OF ECONOMIC UNCERTAINTY

Cheryl Hayes, Executive Director, The Finance Project, Washington, DC

Today's economic climate makes launching a new program - or sustaining an existing one - a daunting prospect even for the most intrepid veterans. Yet even lean fiscal environments provide opportunities for creative financing for family and children's services. The Finance Project works with state and community leaders in order to help them design strategic financing plans that make the most of available funding. This session will suggest ways to sustain promising community initiatives and even grow them in tough times.

SOUND LEARNING: MUSIC'S ROLE IN HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

Lori Custodero, Assistant Professor, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, NY

Music is not only fun, it also has a powerful influence on children's development. A noted music educator and researcher on the role of music in human development will discuss the many ways music influences growth and development, and provide strategies for integrating music into the daily lives of children, both at home and in the classroom.

SELLING POINTS

Alice Barnes, Deputy Superintendent, Forrest City School District, Forrest City, AR

Robert (Sandy) Goodlett, Executive Director, O f f i c e of FRYSC - Cabinet for Families and Children, Frankfort, KY

Jim Hinson, Superintendent, Independence School District, Independence, MO

Kevin O'Malley, Superintendent, Ayer Public Schools, Ayer, MA

Community support and public awareness is essential for the success of any program such as 21C and is an important aspect of the program’s sustainability. Various messages have been used to promote the School of the 21st Century in different communities. In this seminar, 21C veterans discuss what sold them on the program, and in turn, how they and others in the district use key points to inform parents and promote the program in the community.
CONCURRENT WORKSHOPS
3:00 p.m. -- 4:30 p.m.

21C PROGRAMS COME OF AGE
You’ve overcome the start-up challenges; now you’re facing the hard work of staying energized and motivating staff, especially in the tough economic climate. Coordinators from mature 21C sites should come to this session prepared to share the joys and frustrations of coordinating 21C programs and leave with renewed enthusiasm for the tasks ahead.
Vicki Shelby, Director, Paragould School of the 21st Century, Paragould, AR
Paul Vivian, Program Consultant, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT
Deborah Zipkin, Director, Charter Oak Family Resource Center, West Hartford, CT

A COMPREHENSIVE, RESEARCH-BASED, EARLY LITERACY COMPONENT FOR 21C
Early literacy is the centerpiece of the current federal administration’s early childhood education strategy and a new component of 21C. This workshop will focus on criteria for selecting early literacy curricula, recommendations for specific learning resources, the creation of an informational database, and the development of specialized training and technical assistance for 21C programs.
Heather Callister, Project Director, Core Knowledge Preschool Curriculum Project, Baltimore, MD
Norma Meek, Education Support Services Coordinator, Summit Elementary School, Ashland, KY
Shelby Miller, Program Consultant, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT
Patricia Schumacher, Associate Superintendent, Independence School District, Independence, MO

ESSENTIAL TOOLS FOR 21C START-UP
This workshop will provide tips and tools for those new to 21C implementation. Topics include conducting a needs assessment, forming and maintaining an advisory committee, and planning for action.
Wendy Eldredge, Executive Director, Family Partnership Center, Page Hilltop Elementary School, Ayer, MA
Beth Lapin, Senior Associate, School of the 21st Century, Yale University, New Haven, CT

FAMILY SUPPORT AND TECHNOLOGY: ACCOUNTABILITY, INFORMATION AND REFERRAL
Increasing calls for accountability demand that programs demonstrate effectiveness with hard data. Learn about a partnership in Oregon that created a web-based information and referral system that improves data collection, incorporates risks and assets into program data, and provides a step-by-step process to help staff develop and measure program outcomes.
Janet Carlson, County Commissioner, Marion County, Salem, OR Sandra Peterson, Consultant, Healthcare Business Education Inc., Salem, OR Walter Reed, Consultant, Healthcare Business Education Inc., Salem, OR

MAKING MIDDLE SCHOOL MAGIC
Dealing with middle school-age kids can be madness, or it can be magic. Reaching out to these young teens and their parents is proving to be a necessary and well-received proposition in Nanuet, NY. We will review some of the Center’s most successful programs and lead a discussion about the value of Family Resource Centers beyond elementary school.
Ruben Adderich, Assistant Principal, MacArthur Barr Middle School, Nanuet, NY
Dana Andrews, Middle School Coordinator, Nanuet Public Schools Family Resource Centers, Nanuet, NY
Jane Bosley, Coordinator, Nanuet Public Schools Family Resource Centers, Nanuet, NY
Lauren Grennan, Director, Nanuet Public Schools Family Resource Centers, Nanuet, NY
Roger Guccione, Principal, MacArthur Barr Middle School, Nanuet, NY

USING LOGIC MODELS TO KEEP YOUR PROGRAM ON TRACK

This session will show participants how to keep their programs on track and avoid information overload by using logic models. These evaluation tools can help your program more clearly chart its course and aid in efficient communication of relevant information between site-level and project-level leadership.

Bonnie Lynch, Research Associate, RMC Research Corporation, Portland, OR
LUNCHEON ADDRESS
12:00 p.m. -- 1:30 p.m.

THE POLITICAL AND BUDGET LANDSCAPE: STRATEGIES FOR SURVIVING THE CRISIS
Jan Richter

After completing her graduate work in Russian studies, political science and social work at the University of Michigan, Jan Richter began her career as an advocate on children's issues. As a clinical social worker, she worked intensively with children and families from diverse backgrounds. As an advocate, she volunteered for organizations that put the needs of children at the top of the public agenda and was a commentator on children's issues for Michigan Public Radio. She was the first director of the Peace Neighborhood Center, a community center in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and founded Michigan Citizens for America's Children, a statewide grassroots advocacy organization. After moving to Washington, DC in 1994, Jan began teaching social work in the undergraduate program at the Catholic University of America as an adjunct professor and working as a consultant on child development and policy for nonprofit advocacy organizations. She has been with Connect for Kids since 1996, first as Director of Outreach and now as Advocacy Director.

SEMINARS

SOUND LEARNING: MUSIC'S ROLE IN HUMAN DEVELOPMENT
Lori Custodero, Assistant Professor, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, NY

The role of music in human development is well-documented. Music not only influences growth and development, but it also provides strategies for integrating music into the daily lives of children, both at home and in the classroom.

THE WAY TO EAT: ADDRESSING CHILDHOOD OBESITY
David Katz, Associate Clinical Professor of Epidemiology & Public Health and Medicine and Director, Yale Prevention Research Center

With childhood obesity in the headlines and growing concerns about the health of young children, it is apparent that children — and adults — need to learn how to eat to stay healthy. A noted nutrition expert, and author of many books on the topic, will discuss the latest research on this topic and provide guidelines for addressing nutrition issues both in the school and in the home.

PERSPECTIVES PANEL
The School of the 21st Century means many things to different people. Hear what 21C has meant to a superintendent, principal, site coordinator and parent from different schools across the country and learn from their successes.

EFFECTIVE COLLABORATION IN RURAL COMMUNITIES
Collaboration between educators and community service providers is critical to meeting the needs of many children and families. But collaboration takes a great deal of time and effort, particularly in rural communities where resources are scarce and distances hard to bridge. This workshop will identify successful strategies used by several rural communities to overcome these challenges.

GRANT WRITING FROM A FUNDER’S PERSPECTIVE
Learn the “tricks of the trade” from a seasoned grant writer and a funder. This workshop is designed to guide a novice grant writer through the steps to building a successful proposal and includes practical suggestions for writing comprehensive, achievable project descriptions. Anecdotal information learned from a recent New Jersey funding initiative will be presented.
Jane Voorhees, Special Project Manager, New Jersey Department of Human Services, Trenton, NJ

MARKETING BASICS
Everyone always talks about the importance of “marketing” your program. But what does that mean, and how do you do it? Gain practical tips from a marketing pro!
Norma Meek, Education Support Services Coordinator, Summit Elementary School, Ashland, KY

THE PRINCIPAL’S ROLE: PROVIDING LEADERSHIP TO 21C
Several recent studies on program implementation and school reform have shown that one of the key factors in successful implementation is the role of the principal. We have also found that in 21C studies. There is no replacement for the direction the principal provides, the leadership, and the ability to garner enthusiasm. In this panel we’ve asked several principals to give us specifics on how they are involved with 21C and how they remain committed to the effort over the years.

LINKS TO LEARNING PART I: CONNECTING THE MULTIPLE WORLDS OF CHILDREN

School, after-school, home, peers, and community, all shape the lives of young people. Time children spend at out-of-school programs should be both complimentary and compensatory to the other aspects of their lives. This workshop will provide tools for creating after-school programs that effectively connect children’s multiple worlds, building on the latest research on topics such as resiliency and homework support. (Note: This workshop can be attended in combination with Part II in the afternoon or by itself.)

Ellen Gannett, Co-Director, National Institute on Out-of-School Time, Wellesley, MA

CLOSING THE INTERNATIONAL GAP: STRATEGIES FOR 21C SCHOOLS

Our children suffer from an “international knowledge gap,” knowing little about the 90 percent of the world that lies outside our borders. This is a concern due to growing ethnic and cultural diversity in communities across the country. This workshop will introduce multimedia, professional development, and instructional strategies for integrating international education and world languages into the school.

Christine Brown, Director, Foreign Languages, Glastonbury, CT School District

Nina Garrett, Director, Center for Language Study, Yale University, New Haven, CT

Michael H. Levine, Executive Director, National Campaign for International Education, Asia Society and Senior Associate, Yale Bush Center

MANAGING BOUNDARIES WITH STUDENTS AND PARENTS

Principals and program directors will have the opportunity to examine the risks and benefits of applying a model to increase staff awareness and accountability regarding their interactions with students and parents on sensitive issues (gift giving and receiving, tutoring after hours, babysitting, etc.). Ample time will be permitted for small group analysis of cases and discussion.

Rosemary C. Baggish, Community Education Consultant, The Institute of Living, Hartford, CT

YOU’RE NOT MY FRIEND! CONFLICT RESOLUTION STRATEGIES FOR EARLY CHILDHOOD

Participants will explore a conflict resolution model appropriate for children as young as age one. Six strategies that support young children as they learn to create solutions to conflicts will be demonstrated. Approaches to working with children at differing stages of language development will be discussed.

Betsy Evans, Field Consultant, High/Scope Educational Research Foundation, Gill, MA

TOOLS TO SUPPORT LITERACY AND LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT IN PRE-K

Gain experience using new staff development tools aimed at enriching teacher-child language interactions and integrating developmentally appropriate literacy activities throughout the day. These include an instrument for assessing classroom supports for early literacy, a guide to using children’s drawings and dictation, and a resource for strengthening language interactions.

Wednesday, July 16

NETWORKING LUNCH
12:00 p.m. -- 1:30 p.m.

Here's your opportunity to sit down with people you met this week or those you have known for years. Talk about the conference, talk about your kids, talk about whatever's on your mind, but don't miss this chance to connect, relate and share with other like-minded professionals on the last day of the conference!

SEMINARS
1:45 p.m. -- 2:45 p.m.

A LOT EASIER SAID THAN DONE: PARENTS TALK ABOUT RAISING CHILDREN IN TODAY’S AMERICA
This seminar will present Public Agenda’s recent nationwide survey of parents. Parents are remarkably candid about their shortcomings in teaching children character traits they deem absolutely essential for success in today’s world. The study revealed parents’ high level of awareness of myriad parenting strategies and the often-competing goals they have for their kids.

Ann Duffett, Associate Director of Research, Public Agenda, New York, NY

MAKING THE DIFFERENCE: RESEARCH AND PRACTICE IN COMMUNITY SCHOOLS
This seminar will present new information on the effectiveness of Community Schools contained in Making the Difference: Research and Practice in Community Schools, a new report from the Coalition for Community Schools. This information is invaluable to people making the case for Schools of the 21st Century and other community school approaches.

Martin Blank, Staff Director, Coalition for Community Schools at the Institute for Educational Leadership, Washington, DC

CHILDREN’S MINDS: NEW DISCOVERIES IN BRAIN RESEARCH
Advances in the brain sciences are continuing to document the molecular basis of behavior, from learning and memory, to the formation of habits and social attachments. However, the translation of scientific discoveries to real life remains fraught with controversy. Often, we focus on areas of weakness, diagnose disabilities and develop interventions that address deficits. Instead, this seminar will emphasize using what we know from genetic and brain sciences to build on children’s strengths and engage their creativity through individual, idealizing mentoring relationships.

James Leckman, Director of Research, Nisong Harris Professor of Child Psychiatry, Pediatrics and Psychology, School of Medicine, Yale University, New Haven, CT

Snack Break
2:45 p.m. -- 3:00 p.m.
Partners for Success: Linking Communities, Families and Schools

Wednesday, July 16

CONCURRENT WORKSHOPS

3:00 p.m. -- 4:30 p.m.

Creating a Family Friendly School

21C practitioners whose schools are always abuzz with parents share the secrets of their success. This perennially popular workshop includes strategies for engaging working parents and parents who may view schools with distrust.

Wendy Eldredge, Executive Director, Family Partnership Center, Page Hilltop Elementary School, Ayer, MA
Julie Goodan, Director, Somerset FRYSC, Somerset, KY
Deborah Zipkin, Director, Charter Oak Family Resource Center, West Hartford, CT

Get Ready to Read!

Learn about the Get Ready To Read! national early literacy initiative of the National Center for Learning Disabilities and how to administer a 20-item screening tool that identifies four-year-old children’s progress in developing necessary early literacy skills. Session will also cover practical activities and resources to support children’s development of these skills.

Karen Golembeski, Consultant, National Center for Learning Disabilities, New York, NY

Links to Learning Part II: Communication and Coordination with Schools and Families

School-age programs are coming under increased pressure to become academic in nature, with more of an extended school day. Yet we know kids need a balance of work and play in their lives. This workshop will focus on strategies school-age programs can use to communicate and coordinate effectively with schools and parents about children’s learning, building on the latest research on engagement and motivation. (Note: This workshop can be attended in combination with Part I in the morning or by itself.)

Ellen Gannett, Co-Director, National Institute on Out-of-School Time, Wellesley, MA

Sustaining School-Community Partnerships Through Public Engagement

Learn from communities engaged in the Public Education Network’s School and Community Initiative how they assessed assets and needs, created governance structures, raised and leveraged funds, evaluated their efforts, and changed policy through community-wide public engagement. Workshop participants will engage in collaborative problem solving through case study analysis and interactive dialogue.

Heidi Kraft, Coordinator, Network for Safe and Healthy Children, Lancaster, PA
Meg O’Leary, Director, Community Schools Initiative, Public Education Fund, Providence, RI
Shannon Solava, Project Specialist, Network for Safe and Healthy Children, Lancaster, PA
Richard Tagle, Senior Associate, Public Education Network, Washington, DC
