The major goals of the Yale Doctoral Internship in Clinical and Community Psychology are as follows:

Goal 1
Provide a doctoral internship of exceptional quality that combines intensive and diverse professional experiences, supervision and mentoring from a skilled faculty, highly interactive seminars, and opportunities for scholarship.

Goal 2
Foster the development among fellows of an intermediate level of competency in the program’s core competencies, which are as follows:

- Objective A: Communication and interpersonal skills
- Objective B: Individual and cultural diversity
- Objective C: Professionalism
- Objective D: Ethical and legal standards
- Objective E: Assessment
- Objective F: Intervention
- Objective G: Consultation, interprofessional practice, and systems-based practice
- Objective H: Supervision
- Objective I: Research and scholarship

Goal 3
Promote the career development of fellows, facilitating an informed choice about their next steps professionally.

- Objective A: Increase the fellows’ awareness of career options and post-internship opportunities.
- Objective B: Support fellows in searching for and securing post-internship positions