“Leave no stone unturned: Find the medical education literature”

A brief overview of the methods used to create effective search strategies and the information resources available for finding the medical education literature.

November 14, 2012

Session Objectives
• Explore the basics of searching the medical education literature
• Introduce major medical education information resources
• Inform users about our TLC and library support

Agenda
• Introduction and welcome
• Discussion of why and how we search medical education journals
• What are the most appropriate medical education literary resources?
• Discussion of how the Teaching and Learning Center and the Harvey Cushing/John Hay Whitney Medical Library can support your educational work

Janet Hafler, Ed.D.,
Professor of Pediatrics
Assistant Dean for Educational Scholarship
janet.hafler@yale.edu

Denise Hersey
Librarian for Liaison Activities
Cushing/Whitney Medical Library
denise.hersey@yale.edu