Family Home Visiting Partnership of New Haven

Family Home Visiting Partnership of New Haven

The Family Home Visiting Partnership of New Haven, formerly Nurturing Families, is a collective partnership of Yale New Haven Hospital, Fair Haven Community Health Care and the Cornell Scott Hill Health Center.

Parenting is exciting but can also be stressful. Our programs offer parent education, referrals to community resources and phone support to provide guidance and support to new moms and dads, and caregivers. All of our services are free.

Our Programs

Parents as Teachers Home Visiting Services

A caring Parent Educator visits new parents in their home to help make the transition into parenthood easier. Each visit is focused on healthy growth and development of the child. We work to strengthen parenting skills and provide families with support and guidance. Families are invited to participate in this program until the child turns 2 years old.

Minding the Baby^{®*} (MTB) Home Visiting Services

MTB provides home visits to first-time parents beginning in pregnancy and continuing until the baby turns two. A nurse and social worker help parents bond with their baby and help keep parents and babies healthy. Home visitors provide information on child development, positive parent-child interactions, and more. MTB home visitors are trained to develop safe relationships with families, respect different cultures and values, assess trauma and connect families with any needed community resources.

*Minding the Baby is a Yale University registered trademark, 2018.

Phone Support

Phone support is provided by bi-lingual credentialed parent educators and designed to engage new parents, create awareness of infant and child development, and meet the individual needs of families.

In addition to these programs we also offer dedicated workshops for dads and bilingual services.
