

Geriatric Services in the Greater New Haven Area

Dear Patients, Caregivers and Colleagues,

The Yale Connecticut Older Adult Collaboration for Health (COACH) is pleased to provide this informational packet to you. COACH develops educational programs and materials to improve the health and wellbeing of older adults. We have enclosed a list of services available for older patients in the greater New Haven area.

We have provided this information to assist you in meeting the needs of older patients. We are not recommending or endorsing the services provided by the organizations and individuals listed. Unless otherwise stated each category is alphabetized by town. Your decision to engage any of these individuals or organizations should be based on your own investigation of facts and circumstances that you deem relevant in making a decision. For the most up to date information on services and organizations it is recommended that you call or go to their website.

We hope that this packet assists your efforts to care for older adults.
