As creative leaders in medicine and science, we constantly push boundaries to advance medicine for the benefit of humanity. Diversity is very important to me. I believe it’s actually linked with innovation, and that could be diversity of age, of gender, of culture, of socioeconomic backgrounds.
educational background, but with.

Diversity. We have increased innovation.

The students that are going through Yale are doing amazing things in their lives and they need support from donors to help to create a very amazing, optimal environment for their learning.
