Welcome to

Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital

Dear parents and family members,

Welcome to a very special place – where children and families are at the heart of everything we do. We place as much emphasis on your child's emotional needs as on his or her medical needs. When you selected Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital, you placed your confidence and trust in us. Our entire staff will work hard to meet all of your needs and expectations.

Yale-New Haven has cared for more children than any other hospital in Connecticut. YNHCH opened in 1993 as Connecticut's first comprehensive children's hospital. Inpatient, outpatient, emergency, primary and preventive care is provided to thousands of children, and the hospital serves as one of New England's major referral centers for diagnosis and treatment of pediatric problems.

We are proud of Yale-New Haven's standing as one of the nation's leading hospitals and the quality of care we provide. Thank you for choosing Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital for your child's care.

Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital, located at the corner of Howard Avenue and Park Street, opened in 1993. It features a dedicated pediatric emergency department, pediatric operating rooms and diagnostic imaging suites, a newborn special care unit and maternity services. The Children's Hospital (CH) occupies much of the West Pavilion (WP) of Yale-New Haven Hospital and the seventh floor of the South Pavilion (SP), so you may see room numbers with the initials CH, WP or SP. The West and South Pavilions are connected on the seventh floor. The Children's Hospital attaches to the Smilow Cancer Hospital by a bridge on the seventh floor. The Children's Hospital also includes the pediatric unit at Bridgeport Hospital.

Our pediatric emergency department operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week. It is dedicated exclusively to the care of children from infancy to age 20. The specialized staff provide expert medical, surgical and psychiatric care in a friendly, efficient and comforting environment. More than 32,500 children are treated in our children's ED annually.

Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital is a designated Level 1 Pediatric Trauma Center. The hospital is equipped and certified to provide the highest level of care possible to children who have been injured. Highly specialized staff include pediatric nurses, physicians, surgeons, anesthesiologists and radiologists in the emergency department, operating rooms and intensive care units. A helipad located on the roof of the Children's Hospital provides quick access to trauma services.

The pediatric emergency department treats children and adolescents with all types of illnesses and injuries. Treatment is overseen 24 hours a day by attending physicians, trained in pediatric emergency medicine. Care is delivered by emergency medicine physicians, fellows, physician assistants, pediatric residents, nurse practitioners, nurses, social workers and technical associates. A certified child life specialist is available to support children and families.

Pediatric surgery center 203-688-7996

Trained pediatric staff provide support to children – and their parents – having either inpatient or outpatient surgical or diagnostic procedures. We have tailored our pediatric surgery center to meet the unique needs of children before, during and after procedures.

The pediatric surgery center is dedicated solely to pediatric patients and has six operating rooms, four exam/treatment rooms and a recovery area (post-anesthesia care unit or PACU) where children can be monitored after anesthesia. The largest staff of pediatric anesthesiologists in the state devoted exclusively to the care of children work around the clock with pediatric surgeons who have a range of special expertise. Parents are encouraged to be with their child before and after surgery or anesthesia.

Pediatric specialty centers 203-785-4081

The main Pediatric Specialty Center is on the second floor of Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital. A second Pediatric Specialty Center is located on the second floor of One Long Wharf Drive in New Haven. Outpatient specialty office visits are offered for more than 20 subspecialties. Visits range from one-time consultations to treatments for acute or chronic medical or surgical conditions.

Each specialty center is staffed by a multidisciplinary team of health professionals that includes: Yale Medical Group physicians who are also attending physicians at YNHCH, advanced practice nurses (APRN), registered nurses (RN), child life specialists, social workers, psychiatrists, nutritionists, and rehabilitation staff (physical and occupational therapists). All members of the team work closely to provide individualized patient and family centered.

Children with hematologic or oncologic diagnosis receive their outpatient office visits and infusions on the 7th floor of the Smilow Cancer Hospital, or at 405 Church Street in Guilford. Non-oncology infusions and testing is performed at our pediatric general treatment center in the Pediatric Specialty Center on the second floor of YNHCH.

Pediatric sleep center 203-688-1240

The pediatric sleep center at YNHCH is the only accredited pediatric sleep center in Connecticut. The three-bed outpatient center, located on the seventh floor of the South Pavilion, is a three-bed unit which provides analysis and care to children with an array of sleep disorders, including obstructive sleep apnea.

Pediatric diagnostic imaging 203-688-7998

Pediatric diagnostic imaging is staffed by physicians, technologists and nurses specializing in diagnostic imaging and care of infants, children and adolescents. Our facilities include a designated area for the observation of children recovering from sedation. We offer:

- Radiography (X-ray)
- Computed tomography (CT scan)
- Magnetic resonance imaging (MRI)
- Interventional radiology
- Ultrasound
- Nuclear medicine

Children's psychiatric inpatient service 203-688-5900

Located on the first floor of the Winchester Building (WWW-1), the children's psychiatric inpatient service provides comprehensive psychiatric, psycho-social and educational evaluation, as well as short-term treatment for children ages 4 to 14 with neuropsychiatric, developmental and behavioral problems. Parents are encouraged to join the multidisciplinary treatment team to help the team better understand their child, initiate active treatment and develop an effective, comprehensive discharge plan. We also have an accredited school (K-12) program for all children on the inpatient unit.

The Children's Hospital also has a child psychiatric partial hospital program, adjacent to the children's psychiatric inpatient service, operating two types of weekly programs. The first program runs from 8:30 a.m.– 4 p.m. and includes a school component in the morning and a therapeutic component in the afternoon. The second program allows children to attend their own school in the morning and come to us from 1–5 p.m. for the therapeutic portion. In addition to children discharged from inpatient settings, the program accepts referrals from community providers, clinics and schools.

Pediatric rehabilitation (inpatient rehabilitation) 203-688-2174

Pediatric rehabilitation services offers examination, evaluation and intervention for children, from birth through adolescence, who are experiencing functional limitations or disability due to trauma, developmental issues or disease. Our team consists of physical therapists, occupational therapists and speech-language pathologists who work with patients and their families to develop treatments specific to their individual needs. Therapy sessions may include exercises, training in use of adaptive equipment, or age-specific play-based activities to support the child's development and recovery. To better accomplish this, therapists work closely with physicians, nurses and other pediatric team members. Patient and family education is an important component of rehabilitation. Following hospitalization, many children receive outpatient rehabilitation services at Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital's pediatric specialty center at One Long Wharf in New Haven, 203-688-7994.

Pre-admission

Scheduling a pre-admission visit

You can schedule a pre-admission visit within 30 days of your child's surgery or procedure. Pre-admission visits are held Monday through Friday, 12:30–4:30 p.m. Your child's appointment will take approximately one hour. Please bring any of your child's prescription medications with you. Fasting is not required before this visit. To schedule a pre-admission visit, call 203-688-7996.

What to expect during your pre-admission visit

When you enter the Children's Hospital (West Pavilion) at the intersection of Park Street and Howard Avenue, you should go to the Children's Hospital admitting office on the first floor (to your right, just beyond the fish tank). An admitting associate will greet you, and a patient account representative will complete your admission paperwork and verify demographics. Please remember to bring your insurance cards.

Take the West Pavilion elevators to the pediatric surgery center on the third floor of the Children's Hospital, where the admitting nurse will see your child.

You will speak with an anesthesiologist, who will perform a preoperative assessment. You will be asked about your child's medical history, medications and allergies. Your child's blood pressure and heart rate will be checked. The anesthesiologist will give this information to the anesthesia team assigned to your child's surgery. Your child will also see a child life specialist.

Children's Hospital admitting office 203-688-3331

The Children's Hospital admitting office is located on the first floor of the hospital's West Pavilion. Enter through the Children's Hospital (West Pavilion) and look for a large fish tank on your right. An admitting associate will direct you to the appropriate department. The Children's Hospital admitting office is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Parking: Valet parking service is available at the Children's Hospital entrance on Howard Avenue for a flat fee.

Please call the parking office at 203-688-2623 for the most current rate information.

Yale-New Haven Shoreline pre-admission office 203-453-7111

The paperwork for admission and insurance for pediatric patients who are going to be admitted to Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital can also be done at the Yale-New Haven Shoreline pre-admission office, at 111 Goose Lane in Guilford (I-95, exit 59). There is free parking.

Preparing your child for hospitalization

Coming to the hospital can generate anxiety and stress for children and parents alike. Preparation can help make the hospital stay easier – for both child and family. Obviously, how much your child understands will depend on age and maturity.

YNHCH offers children's pre-admission tours, prior to surgery or procedure. A pre-admission visit can help both parent and child feel more comfortable. The visit includes a tour of the pediatric surgery center (and inpatient unit if your child is to be admitted) prior to the day of the surgery or procedure. Each pre-admission visit is conducted on an individual basis and tailored to meet the specific needs of your child.

During the visit, we will familiarize you and your child with the process, explaining whom you will meet and what you will experience the day of the procedure. Children can touch and play with the medical equipment they will see on the day of their procedure. They will also be given age-appropriate information about how the equipment is used.

For more information, call the pediatric surgery center, 203-688-7996, Monday–Friday, 7 a.m.–3 p.m.

A parent's role in preparation

Before your child has a procedure, ask the doctor or nurse about what will happen, so you can prepare your child for unfamiliar sights or sounds. If you have other children, try to explain what will be happening. Hospitalization affects the whole family, so be prepared for concern on the part of siblings. Siblings should not come to the hospital on the day of surgery.

You should also:

- Encourage your child to express feelings, fears and fantasies.
- Let your child know it is okay to cry.
- Listen to your child's questions and answer the questions honestly.
- Pack familiar books, toys and clothes for your child to take to the hospital.
- Visit the hospital ahead of time through a scheduled preoperative visit.

Admitting staff

Admitting staff provide patients with a variety of services. You can identify admitting staff by their navy blue suits and white shirts.

Admitting associates greet families and visitors upon arrival at the hospital, input patient admission information and escort patients to their patient care unit.

Patient account representatives (PARs) coordinate the demographic and financial aspects of the admission process, which starts when your doctor schedules your child's admission to the hospital.

Agency patient account representatives help patients and their families apply for Medicaid and other medical assistance programs. They help complete applications, provide required documentation, and advise patients of their self-pay options, including the availability of free care funds.

Being admitted to a pediatric unit

Your child will be assigned a registered nurse who will coordinate all of his or her care. Upon admission, the nurse meets with each child and parent to determine past medical history, likes and dislikes, progress in school, and sleeping and toilet habits. It's helpful if parents or guardians inform the nurse of any religious or cultural values or beliefs that might be of importance in caring for your child. Your child's vital signs are also taken, and your child is examined by a physician.

We try to have each child in a single room, but occasionally we need to place a child in a room with another child. Please talk to your child's nurse if you would like our help in making your child's stay in a double room more comfortable.

Most patient rooms include a bed or crib, a cot or couch for a parent to sleep on, a bathroom and shower that parents can use, a television with a DVD player, a bedside table and a telephone. Let us know if your child prefers a bed or a crib; however, cribs are sometimes recommended for younger children for safety.

In keeping with our patient and family centered care approach, parents and guardians are welcome 24 hours a day. Generally, one parent or legal guardian is welcome to stay overnight. There is a family room on most units with a microwave, coffeemaker, table and chairs.

There are also treatment rooms on each floor, where minor procedures or treatments can be performed. Treatments are done in a separate room so the child's own room remains a safe haven.

What to bring

If your child is staying overnight, the hospital will provide a hospital gown, warm socks/slippers and personal hygiene items, including toothbrushes, toothpaste, mouthwash, shampoo, conditioner and lotion. If your child will be staying in the hospital for a long period of time, please feel free to bring his or her own sleepwear and robe, slippers, special pillows or blankets, favorite DVDs and other items that will help make him or her feel more comfortable. If he or she wears glasses or contact lenses, bring a case for their safekeeping.

What NOT to bring

The hospital cannot be responsible for personal belongings. It is best if jewelry, excessive amounts of money, credit cards, radios, CD players, iPods and other valuables are left at home. Pets should be left at home. However, pets who are part of the hospital's pet visitation program visit the Children's Hospital.

Siblings

Having a child in the hospital affects not only the parents, but also brothers and sisters at home. Parents should attempt to keep the lives of children at home as normal as possible under the circumstances. Children often want to know what they can do to help their hospitalized sister or brother. Siblings might want to write a letter, draw a picture, record a message, read a story aloud or make a video to be replayed at the hospital.

If you have any concerns about the way a sibling is coping with a brother or sister's illness, please contact the child life specialist on the unit. In addition, Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital offers "We're Special Too!" – a monthly program for siblings of children with chronic or critical illness or special healthcare needs. For more information, see Sibling programs on page 21 or contact the SibShop coordinator at 203-688-6880.

Rooming-in

Parents are welcome to sleep in their child's room at night. Unfortunately, siblings can not be accommodated.

Same-day surgery

The day before your child's surgery

- You will receive an automated call on the business day prior to your child's procedure between 3–4 p.m. If your child's surgery is scheduled on a Monday, you will receive a call from us on the previous Friday.
- The call will include instructions for parking, arrival time and diet guidelines. If you have any questions, please call 203-688-5576 before 5 p.m. or 203-688-7996 after 5 p.m.
- If your child takes medication daily, please speak to the anesthesia staff about taking the medication before surgery. Their phone number is 203-688-5576.

Guidelines for eating and drinking before surgery

For elective surgery, anesthesia must be given on an empty stomach. This is absolutely critical for your child's safety. Even drinking water within two hours of surgery is a problem and can cause your child's surgery to be delayed or postponed.

- Solid food: Do NOT give your child any solid food AFTER MIDNIGHT THE NIGHT BEFORE surgery. This includes cereal mixed with formula, candy and gum.
- Formula: Give the last bottle of formula (or tube feeding) so that it is finished 6 hours before the time of surgery.
- Breast milk: Plan the last breastfeeding so that it is finished 4 hours before surgery.
- Clear liquids: You may give clear liquids up until 2 hours before the surgery. Clear liquids include apple juice, water or unflavored Pedialyte.
- Your child cannot take anything by mouth – not even water – for two hours before the scheduled time for surgery.

Other pre-surgical instructions

- For female patients: If your daughter is 10 years or older or has started her period, she will need to provide a urine sample when she arrives the morning of her surgery.
- If your child has symptoms of a cough or cold in the week before surgery, please call 203-688-5576 and ask to speak with a nurse.

The day of your child's surgery

Please be sure that your child is accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

Please bring:

- Your child's favorite toy or DVD, pacifier, bottle or sippy cup, blanket and/or other comfort item.
- Insurance information, identification and legal guardianship, if necessary.
- A list of your child's medications. (A medication card is enclosed for your convenience.)

What parents can expect

- You will be with your child at all times before surgery. In most cases, parents may accompany their child into the operating room, where they can remain until the anesthesia takes effect. Your child's anesthesiologist will talk with you to decide if this will work well for you and your child.
- If you do plan on going to the operating room with your child during the start of anesthesia, you will need to put on a surgical gown and cap. While you are with your child, we encourage you to reassure him or her that you are there. Once your child is asleep, you will go to the parents' waiting room, where you will remain until after your child's surgery.
- Please know we will comfort and support your child throughout his or her surgery.
- While in the family waiting area, we will keep you informed about your child's progress. You will be reunited with your child in the recovery room, where your child will remain until either discharged home or admitted to an inpatient unit.

Most operations performed on an outpatient basis require some care at home. Your child's surgeon and nurse will give you the instructions when he or she is discharged. If you have questions after you get home, you should call the pediatric surgery center at 203-688-7996 from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. After 5 p.m., please call your surgeon.

If possible, please make arrangements for siblings and other children to remain at home so you will be available for your child who is undergoing surgery. Please note that siblings may not be able to go in all areas of the hospital due to age and safety restrictions.

YNHCH Bridgeport campus

Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital Bridgeport campus is a 42-bed pediatric service located in Bridgeport Hospital at 237 Grant Street in Bridgeport. The service includes two inpatient units, a general pediatric unit and a newborn intensive care unit, as well as a pediatric outpatient clinic. It is staffed by Yale-New Haven employees and physicians who are credentialed at YNHH.

Your child's care

We want your child's hospital experience to be as safe, comfortable and pleasant as possible. If you need anything or have questions or concerns, please speak with any member of your patient care team.

Care at a teaching hospital

Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital is a teaching hospital. Teaching hospitals often attract some of the nation's most highly skilled physicians and nurses and provide the most comprehensive services. This means that some of the nation's best physicians and affiliated healthcare professionals, as well as medical students, residents and fellows, are involved with your child's care. It might also mean that a larger team of professionals might visit each patient, ask questions and discuss his or her care. This is a benefit to the patient because the symptoms, medications, diagnosis, treatment and plan of care are discussed with more experts, with many opinions being sought and considered at more than one point in time.

Communicating with caregivers

Families and members of the healthcare team are encouraged to share information in affirming and useful ways. Families should receive timely, complete and accurate information so they can participate in care and decision-making at the level they choose.

- Use a notebook or a journal: With so many new things going on during a hospital visit, we recommend you use a notebook to write down your questions, notes about test results, medications, appointments and other vital information about your child's health.
- Communicate: Share your child's medical history with his/her caregivers, including allergies, medications, immunization records and dates of any previous surgeries or hospitalizations, as well as your child's likes and dislikes.
- Handling complaints or disagreements: At the Children's Hospital, we try not to view anything as a "complaint" but rather an opportunity to see the experience through your eyes and a chance to help us advance our work. You have a right to question and understand any decisions that affect your child. If you have issues with any aspect of your child's care, talk to your child's nurse or the patient service manager on the unit. If you still have concerns or unmet needs, you can contact Patient Relations at 203-688-3430 during normal business hours; after hours and on weekends and holidays, please call the patient assistance line at 203-688-2333.

Pain management

Effective pain management has beneficial effects on young patients. Sometimes parents are concerned that pain medication might lead to an addiction, but this fear is unfounded. Insufficient pain medication could lead to problems.

We encourage you to discuss pain management with the physicians caring for your child. Educate your child about what will happen before surgery or other treatments to reduce anxiety and promote cooperation. Your presence in the room during a procedure may be comforting to your child. When you are present, stay in physical contact with your child and distract him or her with conversation.

Sedative medications may be needed in some cases and should be administered. If sedation is used, make sure your child does not have milk or food for the recommended time period. This will make sedation safer for your child.

Procedures are generally performed in a procedure room instead of your child's hospital room, which should remain a safe haven.

Pediatric ethics committee

There may come a time when you are unsure about the treatment decisions for yourself or your child, or you may have ethical concerns about what is being done or should be done. In such situations, it is sometimes helpful to obtain the opinion and recommendation of individuals not directly involved in the case, but experienced in such matters. The pediatric ethics committee provides consultation on individual cases where ethical issues have been raised about treatment, the right to refuse treatment, patients' rights, or any other concerns you may have. This committee consists of physicians and nurses, as well as representatives of several other disciplines, such as social work, chaplaincy, mental health, child life, legal affairs and community representatives.

Any patient, family member or friend is welcome to request a consult with the pediatric ethics committee by calling the department of religious ministries, 203-688-2151, or the neonatology office, 203-688-2320. Or, you can simply ask your nurse to make the request on your behalf. You will generally be contacted within 24 hours of a request.

Privacy and confidentiality (HIPAA)

YNHH works hard to ensure the privacy of all patients and the confidentiality of all patient information. YNHH and all hospitals follow a federal law called the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), which was designed to protect patient privacy and confidentiality and the security of patient information. Please let your healthcare team know if there is anyone with whom you wish your child's confidential health information shared. If you have any concerns regarding privacy and confidentiality, please contact the HIPAA privacy office at 203-688-8416.

Research studies/clinical trials

You must give your written permission before your child participates in a research study or a clinical trial. If you want more information about research studies, you can call the Yale Center for Clinical Investigation (YCCI) at 203-785-3482 for a brochure with additional information. If you have questions or concerns about what it means to take part in a research study or questions about your child's rights as a research study participant, you can call the human investigation committee, which reviews and approves all research studies at Yale School of Medicine and Yale-New Haven Hospital, at 203-785-4688.

Rounding

- Physician rounding – Usually once a day in the morning, a group of physicians, residents and other team members make “rounds” to visit your child and check on how he or she is feeling. This is a good time to discuss your child's plan of care, progress and medical steps toward discharge.
- Nurse rounding – About once an hour, a nurse generally “rounds” or checks in on your child to see how he or she is doing, how well controlled your child's pain is, if your child needs help changing position or using the bathroom and if you have any concerns about your child's care.

Visiting hours/visiting policies

Parents and family members are never considered visitors at Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital. Other visitors will need passes from information desks located at either the Children's Hospital entrance or the York Street entrance.

Family centered rounds

At Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital, parents are encouraged to be active members of their children's healthcare team. This approach to rounding underscores Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital's commitment to family centered care by recognizing the role the family plays in the care of their child, both at home and in the hospital.

Every day the medical team meets to discuss the plan of care for each child. The team may include the attending physician, fellows, resident, advanced nurse practitioner and the child's nurse. Additional participants may include respiratory, physical and occupational therapists, child life specialists, a care coordinator or a social worker. Family centered rounds is a model of communicating and learning between the patient, family, medical professionals and students on an academic, inpatient ward setting.

Patient safety

Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital's goal is to provide excellent, safe patient care. We believe it is important for families to be involved in care and safety. Below are some tips to help you participate in your child's care and safety in the hospital.

Communication

One of the most important things you can do is to speak up and ask questions, especially if you are unclear, unsure or confused. Feel free to ask who people are, what they are doing and where your child is going.

- Pay attention to your child's tests, treatments and medications. Speak up if something does not seem right to you.
- If you have questions or concerns about your child's care or safety, talk to the nurse, the patient service manager or doctor. If you still have concerns, call the hospital's patient relations department at 203-688-3430.
- Before you go home, make sure you understand your child's written discharge instructions, including medicines and need for a follow-up visit. Don't worry if you need to ask someone to repeat the instructions. Be sure you receive a phone number to call if you have questions after you go home.

Translation services are available any time of day or night, at no cost to you.

Preventing infections in the hospital:

What you as a parent can do

Your child's nurses, doctors and other healthcare providers – as well as family members and visitors – should always wash their hands before they touch your child. Feel free to remind them each time. You and your child should wash your hands with soap and water if soiled. If hands are not visibly soiled, waterless hand disinfectants can be substituted. If a gown or linens become soiled, let your child's caregivers know.

Many diseases are spread by coughing or sneezing (some germs can travel up to six feet), so you and your child should cover both your mouth and nose when doing so. Use a tissue if available, and if not available, cover your mouth and nose with the bend of your elbow or hands – and then disinfect your hands. Ask family members and friends who have a cold, flu or symptoms of an infection (such as fever, rash, cough, sore throat, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea) not to visit. Limit visits from children under 12.

"Isolation precautions" are to protect you, your child, other patients, staff and visitors. Gloves, gowns and masks are sometimes worn, depending on the illness. If you don't understand why your child is on precautions, please ask. Remind visitors that they too must follow the precautions listed on the sign outside your child's room to protect you and them during their visit. Please get flu and pneumonia vaccines when they are offered.

At certain times, we may need to restrict visits from all children under the age of 12 because of increased numbers of respiratory infections, such as RSV (respiratory syncytial virus), in the community. This restriction helps to prevent the introduction of respiratory infections into the hospital since some of these infections can be contagious even before symptoms appear and are particularly common in children.

Reducing medication errors

- Ask your nurse about your child's medicines – what they are, what they do, when they are given and their possible side effects. Get to know their color, size and dose.
- Let your nurse know if your child's medicines are late, look different or if he or she has any reactions to them.
- Make sure your doctor or nurse knows if your child has any allergies or has had reactions to drugs before. If your child has an allergy, please be sure the staff have put a red allergy bracelet on your child.
- Do not give your child any medications from home, unless requested by your doctor or hospital staff.

Avoiding treatment errors

- Find out what is planned for your child each day so you can ask questions about tests or treatments that seem unusual or unscheduled. Ask questions about your child's condition and care.
- It may be helpful to ask a family member or friend to listen with you when staff explains a diagnosis, treatment, test result or discharge plan.
- Write down questions you have for physicians about your child's procedure, treatment and medications (space is provided on page 38).

Staff identification

All hospital employees are required to wear photo identification badges. Be sure all your child's caregivers have a hospital or medical school I.D. with their picture on it. Only caregivers wearing badges with a bright pink background and physicians wearing badges with a red background are permitted to take your child from his or her room for treatment. If you are at all unsure about who should or should not be in your child's room, press the nurse call light.

Patient identification

When your child is admitted, he or she will have a patient identification bracelet placed on his or her wrist. Infants may have their I.D. placed on their ankles. Be sure your child understands the importance of this identification bracelet. This bracelet identifies the child and his or her medical record number. If your child has allergies, be sure he or she wears an allergy alert bracelet. Check that caregivers look at your child's identification band before giving any medication, drawing blood or performing a procedure. Please do not remove this bracelet.

Family-activated rapid response team: If you believe that there is something dramatically wrong with your child, you can activate the hospital's rapid response team by calling 155 and a critical care team will respond immediately to your child's bedside.

Other safety tips

- Make sure you know how to use the nurse call-button on your child's bed. There are emergency cords in all showers and bathrooms.
- No one but staff should touch medical equipment. Ask staff to explain what the equipment does and what the alarms mean. Call your child's nurse if an alarm sounds.
- Do not bring in food from home or restaurants unless approved by your nurse or physician.
- Because of allergies, latex balloons are not permitted in the hospital. Mylar balloons are fine.

Smoking, alcohol and drug policies

For the health and safety of patients, visitors and staff, alcohol and illegal drugs are not permitted in any hospital buildings or premises. Yale-New Haven Hospital is a smoke-free hospital. Smoking is not allowed on hospital property, including buildings, sidewalks or garages. If you are a smoker and would like medical assistance to stop, please speak with your physician or nurse.

Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital offers extensive support services to children, their parents and their siblings to help them deal with the psychological and emotional difficulties that can accompany an illness or medical crisis. Child life 203-688-2334

Child life staff help children cope with the adjustments of being in a hospital by providing a variety of play and educational experiences. These experiences help both children and families gain a greater understanding of medical procedures, which helps reduce stress and fear of the unknown. Through play, the child life specialist helps facilitate the emotional and social growth of a child during the crisis of illness and hospitalization.

As members of the patient care team, certified child life specialists are available to children in the hospital and clinics to provide:

- Developmentally appropriate information and preparation for medical procedures
- Support for the child and family during medical procedures and examinations
- Medical play, which helps children learn about various tests, procedures and surgeries and corrects any misconceptions children may have
- Distraction techniques to minimize stress during an examination or procedure
- Expressive activities that encourage children to share their thoughts and feelings about their hospital experience
- The child life arts and enrichment program provides creative activities, performances and special events for patients and their families. It offers therapeutic arts and interactive music therapy, videography, poetry and storytelling for patients in the playrooms, library and at the bedside.

Child life office hours are Monday–Friday, 8:30 a.m.–5 p.m.

Security and protective services 203-688-2500

YNHH protective services department is a group of highly trained officers who meet the same training requirements as New Haven police officers and officers throughout Connecticut. They maintain a safe, secure environment for patients, visitors and staff and help keep buildings, garages, parking lots and hospital property secure.

- Feel free to ask for assistance from any YNHH protective services officer.
- For extra protection, many YNHH patient care units have limited access, which means that people cannot enter the unit until they are buzzed in. Elevators are closed to the public after 9 p.m. Visitors who stay past 9 p.m. must ask staff for an elevator access code.
- In case of a medical emergency within the hospital, the emergency telephone number is 155.

Security and safety

As part of its overall security system, Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital limits access to all inpatient pediatric units. The doors to the pediatric units are closed and locked so that no one may enter a unit until they are buzzed in by a staff member. Although this means parents and visitors must buzz to enter, people understand and appreciate this extra precaution. Elevators are closed to the public after 9 p.m. If you decide to stay in the evening past 9 p.m., please ask a staff member for an access code to the elevators. You can reach security and protective services by calling 203-688-2500.

Volunteer services

203-688-2297

Often parents and former patients like to "give back" to the hospital or to other patients by becoming volunteers. There are dozens of different volunteer opportunities available to people who are 14 years of age or older. Volunteers may work directly with patients or choose work behind the scenes, with different volunteer roles to fit individual time schedules, abilities and interests.

Wheelchairs

If you need a wheelchair for your child, yourself or a family member, ask your nurse, who will call the hospital's service response center for one.

The hospital environment

Buildings at Yale-New Haven Hospital

Although YNHH includes many buildings, the four main inpatient buildings are attached to the main 20 York Street entrance and the central atrium. They are:

- East Pavilion (EP) [to the right of the atrium if you enter from 20 York Street]
- South Pavilion (SP) [to the left of the atrium if you enter from 20 York Street]
- West Pavilion (WP) or Children's Hospital (CH) [at the left rear of the atrium if you enter from 20 York Street]
- North Pavilion (NP) or Smilow Cancer Hospital [at the north side of the atrium]

Each of the patient care units are referred to with a building name, floor number and often a wing number (for example, WP-10 or EP 6-5).

Fire information

The hospital has emergency contingency plans to deal with the possibility of a fire; conducts regular fire drills; and has mandatory annual training for every staff member on actions to take in case of a fire. The overhead page system will alert staff, patients and families by saying "Code Red" and state the location of the fire (building and floor). Fire exits are clearly marked. Elevators should not be used.

Housekeeping/service response center 203-688-9000

The hospital's service response center (SRC) operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to respond to issues related to housekeeping, cleanliness, patient equipment, general maintenance, patient transport and more. If you have needs that relate to these areas, ask a staff member to call the service response center for you.

Patient rooms are scheduled to be cleaned once a day between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. However, cleaning staff is available around the clock, so please ask a staff member to contact the service response center for you if a need arises. Bed linens are not changed every day, so if you need fresh linens or cleaning in your child's room, ask a staff member to call the service response center for you.

Quiet helps healing

YNHH is working to make the hospital a quieter place so that patients can experience a more peaceful, healing environment. If staff members, visitors or other patients are being too noisy, please ask a member of your patient care team to speak to them. We encourage staff members, patients and visitors to be aware of the noise level at the hospital, to speak in low conversational levels, set beepers and cell phones on vibrate mode and refrain from loud cell phone conversations. We recommend low television volume and encourage use of TV earphones, especially in the evening.

Valuables and personal belongings

Yale-New Haven Hospital is not responsible for patients' belongings. Please send your jewelry, excessive amounts of money, credit cards, radios, CD players, iPods and other valuables home with a family member. Please bring only the items you will need during your stay and label them with your name. Many inpatient units have a safe that can be used to secure valuables (jewelry, wallets, etc.) when you are away from the room.

Showers

Parents may use the shower in their child's room, but please be considerate of your child's roommate. If there is not a shower in the room, ask a staff member.

Telephones

Yale-New Haven is located in the 203 area code.

To dial a local number from within the hospital, dial 9 first, then the area code.

- To dial a toll-free number, dial 9 + 1 + area code + phone number.
- To dial an internal YNHH phone number (688 or 200), dial all seven digits of the phone number. You do not need to dial 9 or the area code.
- To make a long-distance IN or OUT-OF-STATE call from a hospital phone, you must dial 123 + 0 + area code + phone number. You will be asked for billing information. All calls must be charged to a credit card, collect or billed to a third party.-
- To make a long-distance OVERSEAS from a hospital phone, you must dial 123 + 01 + country code + city code + phone number. You will be asked for billing information. All calls must be charged to a credit card, collect or billed to a third party.

Cell phones

Cell phones may be used in many areas of the hospital, but please look for posted signs in areas where they are not allowed (they can interfere with medical equipment).

Public courtesy phones

There are numerous courtesy phones around the hospital, as well as TTY/TTD phones for the hearing impaired or deaf. Ask a member of the staff for the location of the closest one.

Phone policy and courtesy

So that you can sleep through the night, incoming calls to your child's room will not go through between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m. If it is important that someone reach you between those hours, please have that person call the main number at the nurses' station in your unit. You can make outgoing phone calls at any time. When using a phone, please help us keep the noise level at the hospital under control by keeping your voice low and asking your visitors to do the same. If other patients, visitors or staff are talking too loudly on the phone, speak to a staff person.

Television and radio

TV is free in each room and is controlled on your call-button panel. On some floors, TVs are also available in the lounge. Insurance, billing and financial services

Once your child is scheduled for services to Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital, you will be assigned a patient account representative (PAR) who can answer any financial questions you may have before, during and after your child's hospital stay.

Your PAR will make every effort to meet with you in the hospital. If at any time you would like to speak with your PAR, you may come to the West Pavilion admitting office or contact him or her at 203-688-3331. After discharge, the number to call is 203-688-2030.

Verifying health insurance coverage

A patient account representative from the hospital's admitting office will contact you before your child's medical procedure. You will be asked for insurance information, such as the name of your insurance company, the billing address and telephone number(s), subscriber name, certificate and/or policy number and effective date of the plan. This information allows us to verify insurance coverage prior to admission. Most of this information can be found on your insurance I.D. card. Please remember to bring your card with you when you bring your child to the hospital.

Self-pays and co-pays

It is Yale-New Haven Hospital's policy to collect any estimated self-pay balances or co-pays on admission. Your patient account representative will let you know how much you will be expected to pre-pay. Please call the admitting office, 203-688-3331, if you have any questions. The hospital accepts cash, check or credit card.

Patients without insurance

If you don't have medical insurance, your patient account representative will help you calculate an estimated payment. The estimated payment is due upon admission. Because the payment is estimated, you may receive a credit or further charges after your child's hospital stay. If you are unable to make an estimated payment, your patient account representative or financial representative can advise you of available options, including free care and sliding scale programs, and help you through this process.

Financial counseling

Programs are available to help families in need of financial assistance. Yale-New Haven Hospital can often help you find out if you qualify for federal and state funds to cover your hospital costs. Financial assistance can be requested at 203-688-2030. Those without health insurance, or whose income is at or below four times the poverty level, may be eligible for financial assistance.

Free care and sliding scale discount program

Yale-New Haven Hospital provides some services free or at a reduced charge to individuals who cannot afford to pay for medical care. Patients whose family income level does not exceed four times the poverty level, based on the size of the family, will be considered eligible for full or partial free care. Please speak with your patient account representative to see if you are eligible.

Managed care insurance pre-certification

If you belong to a managed care plan, you may need a second opinion, prior approval or pre-certification before your child is admitted to the hospital. In some cases, managed care plans will not pay for hospital costs if patients do not pre-certify that the service is covered before coming to the hospital. Please check with your managed care company to see what is required. Make sure you keep a record of the date, time and person you spoke with at your managed care company.

Your hospital bill

During your child's visit to the hospital, he or she may experience a variety of tests, procedures and services. Many of these services are performed by healthcare providers who work in the hospital, but bill for their services separately. After your child's visit, you can expect to receive bills from several different healthcare providers, including:

- Yale-New Haven Hospital: 203-688-2030
- Yale Medical Group: 203-785-4216 or toll-free 800-826-9922
- Your physician
- Yale-New Haven Emergency Physicians: 800-373-3055

Your hospital statement

If you receive something that looks like a bill, but the word "statement" appears on it, this is not a bill and you do not have to send payment. Statements are sent to let you know that your hospital charges have been forwarded to your insurance company for review and reimbursement.

Requesting a Yale-New Haven Hospital bill

To obtain a copy of your Yale-New Haven Hospital bill, please call 203-688-2030. Make sure to have patient name, date of service, account number and/or the patient's Social Security number available.

If you have questions about your bill

If you have questions about your Yale-New Haven Hospital bill, or feel that it is incorrect, call 203-688-2030, Monday–Friday, 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m. Please have the patient's name, account number listed on the bill or the patient's Social Security number ready when you call. You can also email your billing questions to patientinquiries@ynhh.org.

If you have questions about any of the other bills listed above, please call the number listed on those bills.

Discharge and going home

Discharge

We try to discharge patients before 11 a.m., although there are sometimes unavoidable delays. We make every attempt to let you know the day before discharge, so you can arrange transportation. Your physician or nurse will inform you of your child's discharge time. Please be patient with the discharge process. The staff want to ensure that all care is completed before your child is discharged. If your child requires home care or has special care needs after his or her stay at the hospital, the care coordinator will help you set up appropriate services.

Discharge instructions

Your child's doctor and nurse will give you instructions about post-hospital care. If you have questions about your child's diet, medication, activities or other matters, please be sure to ask. If you have questions after you get home, you can call the nursing station on your unit and speak with a staff member.

- Please check your room and surrounding area carefully for all of your child's belongings. Double-check closets and drawers.
- Children cannot be discharged without an appropriate car seat.

Follow-up phone calls after discharge

You may receive a follow-up phone call a few days after discharge to see how your child is doing, if you are clear about your discharge instructions, and if you have any suggestions about what YNHH could have done better while your child was in the hospital. If you do not receive a call and have questions or suggestions, you may contact patient relations directly during business hours at 203-688-3430.

Going home

Returning home can be an adjustment. Your child may be eager to get back to the usual routine, but a little uncertain of how to proceed. Some simple steps may help make the adjustment to home as easy as possible.

- Return your child to his or her regular home routine and give your child responsibilities that match his or her abilities.
- Give him or her some choices over what to eat or do.
- Permit your child to express anger, frustration or sadness and offer reassurance and support.
- Avoid leaving your child for long periods of time or overnight until he or she has settled in again.

Home care and follow-up care

Your child may be eligible for a skilled nursing visit, home health aide services or physical or occupational therapy. Social workers are also available through home care agencies. Your nurse and/or care coordinator can help you obtain the necessary medical equipment you might need at home, such as wheelchairs, walkers, home oxygen or hospital beds. You will be notified when supplies are ordered if there is any cost to you. Equipment can be delivered to your hospital room prior to discharge if necessary. Staff at the hospital can help you take care of the necessary paperwork and phone calls.

Inform your nurse if you have received services in the past from a home care agency or if you wish to select a particular agency. You have the right to choose agencies or facilities. Your nurse, care coordinator or discharge planning representative can help you with this choice.

Medical records

If you need a copy of your child's medical record, you must complete an "Authorization for Access/Release of Information" form. To obtain the form, call the medical information unit at 203-688-2231 during business hours.

continued

Return the completed form to Yale-New Haven Hospital, Clinical Information Services, Medical Information Unit, 20 York Street, New Haven, CT 06510-3202; or by fax: 203-688-4645. If copies are sent directly to you, there is a per-page copying fee. If copies are sent directly to a physician or hospital, there is no charge.

Patient satisfaction surveys

After you are discharged, you may receive a Press Ganey patient satisfaction survey in the mail. Please take the time to complete and return the survey. Your answers and comments are very important to us and will help us make improvements. If you have questions about the survey, please call patient relations at 203-688-3430. You may also receive a phone call to see how your hospital stay was.

Yale-New Haven Hospital history

Yale-New Haven Hospital (YNHH) was established in 1826 as the first hospital in Connecticut and the fourth in the United States. Originally called the General Hospital Society of Connecticut, it was founded as a hospital to care for the poor, as well as sailors, soldiers and merchants far from their homes. Since it was the only hospital in Connecticut for many years, it was often referred to as the State Hospital. In 1884, the hospital's name was changed to New Haven Hospital.

Since it was founded, the hospital has been affiliated with Yale School of Medicine. In 1945, a merger with Grace Hospital led to a name change: Grace-New Haven Hospital. In 1965, a more formal agreement with Yale University officially created Yale-New Haven Hospital.

The physical facilities, too, grew – from a single 15-bed building to a huge medical center complex.

Today, YNHH is private, nonprofit facility that ranks among the premier medical centers in the nation. From the highly complicated to the relatively routine, Yale-New Haven is ideally qualified to diagnose and treat Connecticut's three million residents.

A referral center for patients from other states and countries, YNHH is a primary care provider for the city of New Haven and the greater New Haven region. In addition, YNHH reaches into the community with programs and services to improve the health and well-being of the community and its residents.

YNHH is the flagship hospital of the Yale New Haven Health System (YNHHS), founded in 1995. Bridgeport and Greenwich hospitals are affiliate members.

Yale-New Haven's history is filled with medical achievements of national, state and local significance, including:

- 1896 – First X-ray in the U.S. produced at Yale
- 1942 – First successful clinical use of penicillin in U.S.; first use of chemotherapy for cancer
- 1946 – First U.S. hospital to allow newborns to stay in rooms with mothers
- 1949 – First artificial heart pump developed
- 1952 – First cornea transplant in Connecticut
- 1956 – First in state to perform open heart surgery
- 1957 – Developed first fetal heart monitor
- 1959 – Discovered and named melatonin
- 1960 – Opened first intensive care unit for newborns
- 1966 – Developed phrenic nerve pacemaker
- 1972 – Started first U.S. hospital sickle cell anemia screening program for newborns
- 1975 – Identified and named Lyme disease
- 1979 – First insulin infusion pump for diabetics
- 1987 – First hospital in Connecticut with photopheresis
- 1993 – Opened Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital
- 2011 – Named in U.S. News & World Report's Best Children's Hospitals subspecialty list
