Announcing – New Virtual Session
Medical Education Day at Yale
June 4, 2020

Online Learning: Lessons Learned and Future Directions

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

Click Here to Register for the new session.

Click Here to learn more about other Med Ed Day virtual events and register.

Registration is required to receive the Zoom meeting code to attend selected sessions.

Discussion with:
Michael Schwartz PhD, Associate Dean for Curriculum, Yale School of Medicine (YSM)
Gary Leydon, Associate Director for Education Technology, YSM Teaching and Learning Center
Pete Takizawa PhD, Co-Director of Integrated Courses, YSM

Facilitated by:
Janet Hafler EdD, Associate Dean for Educational Scholarship, Director YSM Teaching and Learning Center

Description:
This interactive session will provide an overview of YSM’s rapid shift to online curriculum delivery due to COVID-19. In large group sessions and breakout groups, we will discuss faculty development for online teaching, online session facilitation for small groups, and Team Based Learning.

We will provide a summary of the faculty and student feedback on the online delivery to date, and share best practices developed from this feedback and our experiences, as well as explore future directions. Participants will have the opportunity to discuss challenges in the on-line learning space.