

Yale University School of Medicine Child Rearing Leave

Effective January 1, 2022, the state of Connecticut Paid Family and Medical leave (PFML) took effect and provides eligible individuals who take a qualified leave with a state benefit.

The state program offers up to $941 per week, based on an individual's earnings, for up to 12 weeks per year. In order to receive the state benefit, faculty will be required to:

- Apply for leave of absence under the Medical School Child Rearing Leave completing the form on page 2
- Separately file (submit a claim through ctpaidleave.org) for paid leave benefits through the State of Connecticut

Yale will coordinate with the State of Connecticut to provide any supporting documentation requested. Please submit all employer state requests directly to your departmental Faculty Affairs Coordinator (or designee).

Salary continuation during leave of absence

The State program and YSM's child rearing leave will run concurrently. Eligible faculty will receive compensation from CT PFML at the same time as receiving benefits from Yale. The total amount of combined compensation cannot exceed 100% of their regular rate. If Yale is paying a faculty member's wages at 100%, they will not be eligible for CT PFML.

"Primary" wages are considered the state payment – up to the cap of $941/week. Yale wages are "secondary" and will only pay the remainder of dollars to bring the faculty to 100% of earnings.

Ladder Faculty Extension of Appointment

An extension of term will be granted to any ladder faculty member who takes a Child Rearing Leave. Faculty are not obligated to take the extension and may follow their original clock. An extension of appointment request form must be submitted to OAPD and will automatically be approved.

Yale and Connecticut Paid Family Medical Leave Coordination – page 3

During the first month of a leave of absence, faculty can elect to be kept whole by Yale to account for possible delays in coordinating with the state of CT. Faculty must consent to repay Yale by completing the consent form on page 3. In month two+ of the leave, wages will be recouped to adjust for wages paid during month one. If you would like to opt in for this program, please complete the form, otherwise it will be assumed you are not participating.

Faculty/Postdoc Consent

PLEASE READ THIS DOCUMENT CAREFULLY AND PROVIDE YOUR SIGNATURE AND CONSENT.

I, _____, an employee of Yale University, understand that it is my responsibility to file for Connecticut Paid Family Medical Leave (PFML) benefits through the state of. I acknowledge that I must apply with the state within the first month of my approved leave of absence.

Other than in the first month of my leave, Yale will offset my wages by the estimated benefit amount I will receive from the state. The state's wages are primary while wages paid by Yale are secondary.

Yale will offer support to avoid any gap caused by state delays in providing benefits. During the first month of leave, Yale will keep my wages whole. Thereafter, Yale may recoup from my paycheck the wages it paid to keep my wages whole.

Should my application through the state of CT be denied, Yale reserves the right to collect any funds it paid during the first month through automatic payroll deduction.

Note: If you choose not to consent or apply for the state benefits, Yale reserves the right offset wages starting with day one of leave.
